

Array of events set for Chinese New Year

The Tucson Chinese Cultural Center is gearing up for a series of events for the Year of the Tiger.

"The Chinese New Year will celebrate the year 4708, and here in the United States we celebrate the year 2010," Patsy Lee, cultural center president, said in the center's latest newsletter.

A Chinese New Year concert will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at University of Arizona Centennial Hall, 1020 E. University Blvd. Tickets cost $15, $12 and $10. Call UApresents for more information at 621-3341.

The Year of the Tiger celebration at the Cultural Center, 1288 W. River Road, will begin Feb. 13 with Family Day. There will be Chinese foods, cooking demonstrations and more. The event is free and open to the public.

The big fundraiser for the Cultural Center will be Feb. 20 at the Desert Diamond Casino, on South Nogales Highway.

For a full list of events, go online to www.tucsonchinese.org, or call 292-6900.