

DEAR TCCC MEMBERS AND SUPPORTERS,

2022 is soon coming to an end. During the three years of the Covid-19 pandemic, the Tucson Chinese Cultural Center (TCCC) experienced unprecedented crises and challenges. I am grateful for your moral support and generous donations that carried us through the hardship.

As we are now moving on from the pandemic impacts, the TCCC is gradually recovering. Our Chinese school has basically returned to normal, and the rental business of the cultural center is gradually picking up. In addition to the regular programs and functions, we have added new programs to serve our community, including a Youth Program and Chinese Gardening Program.

We were awarded two important federal government grants. One is from the National Institutes of Health, Asian Health Coalition, Asian and Recruitment Core to improve the health of all Americans through data gathering and outreach. The other, from the Centers for Disease Controls and the Pima County Health Department, called Together We Thrive, is to study the impact of COVID-19 on the Asian community. These grants will allow us to help improve research for our community and country to further advance good health to all.

All of our accomplishments are inseparable from your continuing generous donations and the enthusiastic help of volunteers like yourself. Here, on behalf of the Tucson Chinese Association, I would like to thank you sincerely for your support through the years!

The end of the year is approaching, and we are moving into the festival season. As you are gifting to your loved ones, please keep in your mind the TCCC, a shared home of us all. With everyone's care and support, the TCCC can be sustainable for many generations to come.

For this year's annual fundraising campaign, we have a goal of $100,000 to cover the operations of TCCC (building maintenance, programs, and staffing). Attached, please find the link for donations. As usual, all donors will be recognized in the Donation Honor Roll on the TCCC website. I offer a deep and sincere THANK YOU from me and all the TCA board members to you for your generous donation!

Wishing everyone a happy holiday, with health, peace, and prosperity in the coming year.

Sincerely and Warmly,

Tina Liao
President of Tucson Chinese Association
